We live in a separate world here. Its name is Vastness. The buildings are decorated with an almost Baroque mixture of ivy and wisdom. The floors and roads are paved with creativity.

The basic philosophy revolves around such words as: relationships, diversion, endeavor:

individuality,

ideals,

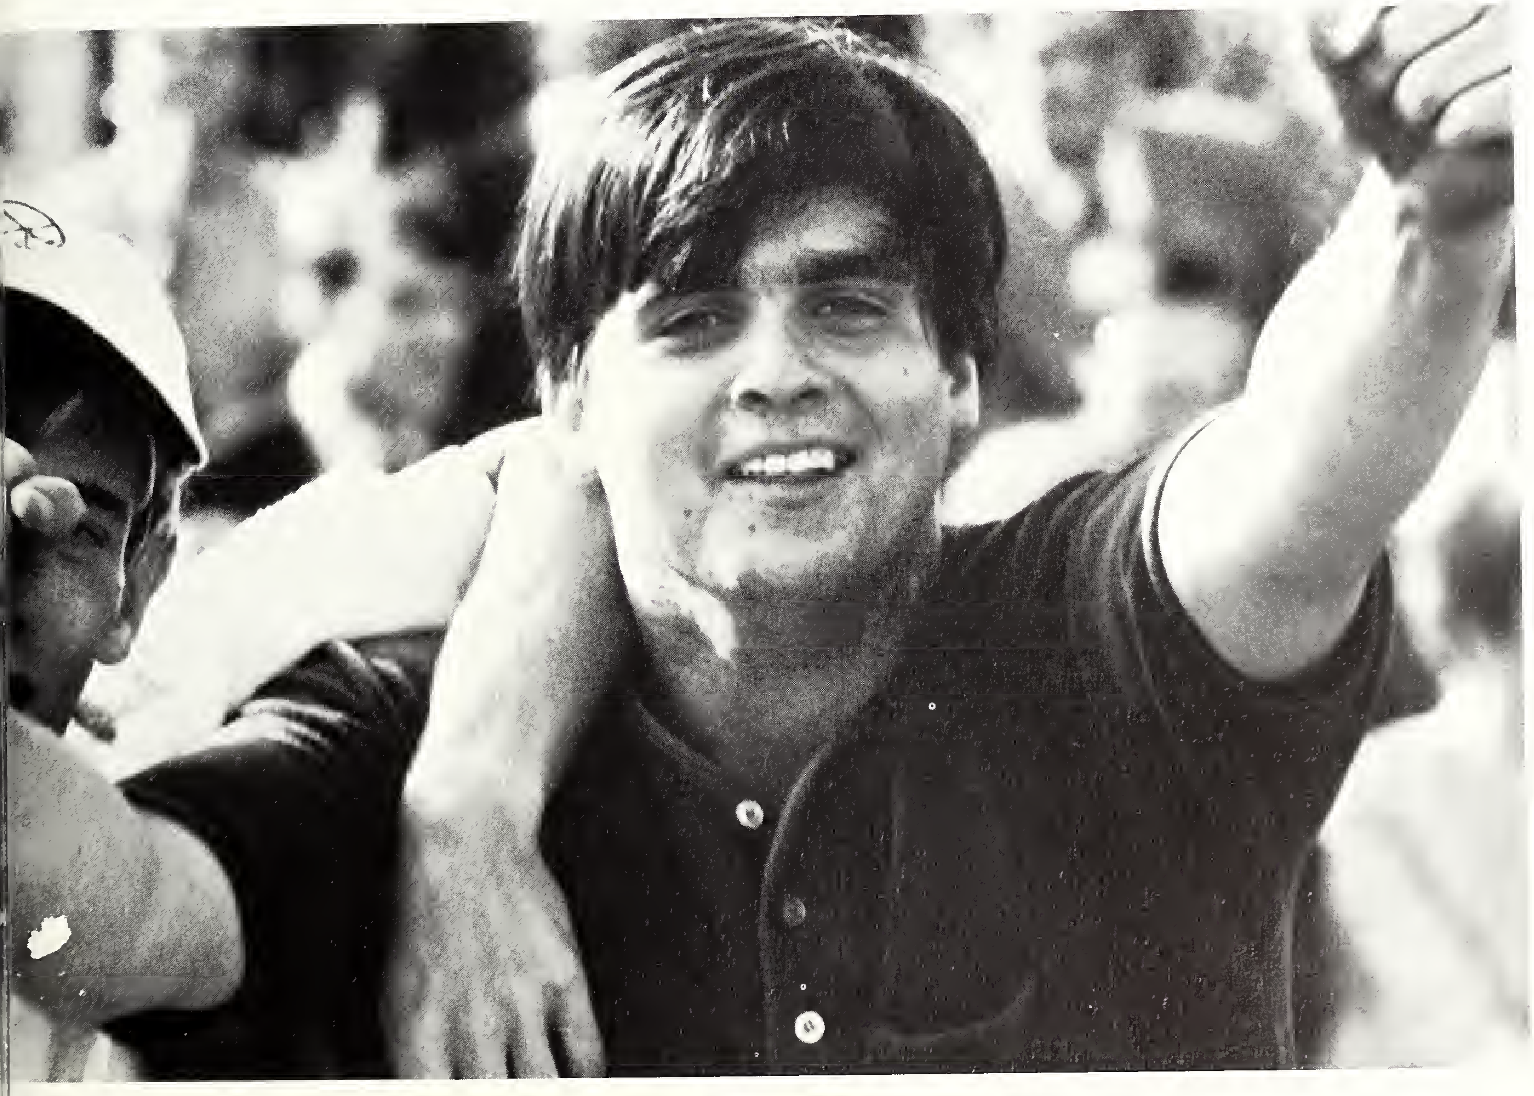
and change.

We live a dichotomy:

of peace and frustrating inner wars;

of hope and disappointment;

of giving and receiving.



And from it all, we gain a sense of time, of growth, and of fulfillment.

. . . and every creature has a time for going ahead,
and a time for going behind;
A time for slow-breathing and a time for fast-breathing;
A time to grow in strength and a time to decay;
A time to be up and a time to be down.

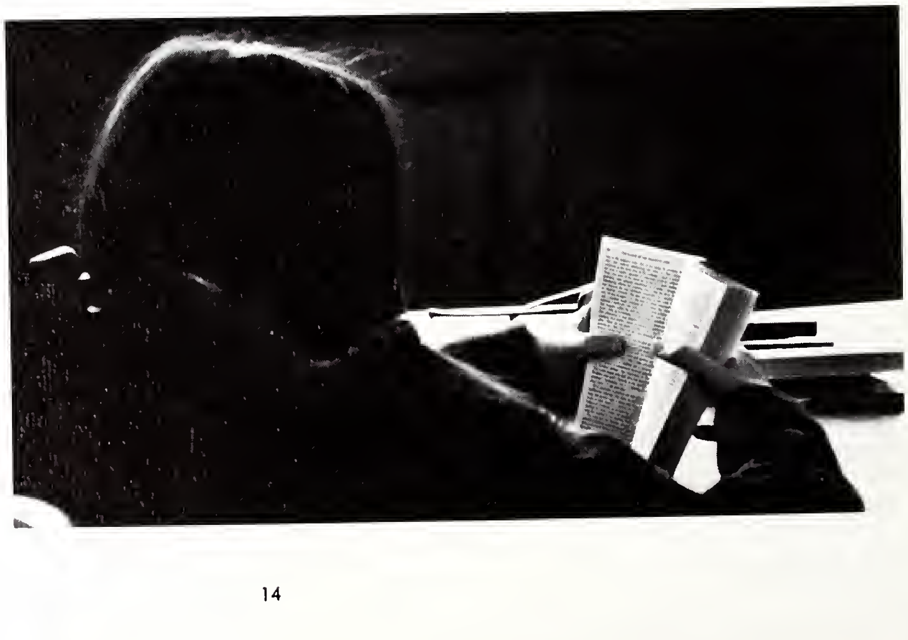
INDIVIDUALITY



"Let an honest curiosity be suggested."
Montaigne

"Let him make me understand by the force of his reason."
Montaigne

President

Paul L. McKay

I like to think of Millikin University as a community of learning. Faculty, students and administration learn from one another and contribute to the mutual enrichment of all concerned. Such an understanding of the university puts the focus on shared experiences. Modern life is all too fragmented. The link that holds us together is our need for one another.

This edition of the Millidek effectively supports the thought that Millikin is many things to many people. Even as numerous colors make up a rainbow, I believe that our diversity blends too in a common purpose.

Judicial Board

Although the Judicial Board is one of the most misunderstood, and seemingly undefined committees, in reality it produced some of the most significant and symbolic interactions between students and faculty. Its bylaws state its purpose: "to hear serious charges against students and make recommendations to the Dean of Students in matters concerning the enforcement of University regulations applicable to students."

Perhaps the best description of the Judicial Board comes from one actively involved, the current chairman, David Glasscock. For him, this job has meant a gain in "the respect I have for the student membership." He has found that these positive factors have contributed to the just and proper functioning of the Board: "the apparent cognizance by the membership (students and faculty) of their interdependency of responsibility (including due process and individual rights); mutuality of respect; and high degree of concurrence of opinions that resulted from an exceptionally effective and complete interaction and penetrating discussion." Judicial Board: focus on just and deliberate judgment.

University Committees

Student-Faculty Committees have been created to give students a meaningful opportunity to participate in administrative decisions. They also allow for a constructive sharing of ideas and attitudes and promote greater understanding between the university power structure and the student body.

The more active of the Committees included the Library, Admissions, Teacher Education Council, Student Aid, Human Relations, Student Affairs and Executive Committees.

Interaction, exchange, assimilation—phases of discussion within these committees. The success or failure of their work may be measured by the relevance of their judgments to the needs of the student body. For example focus in on . . .

Executive Committee: A body composed of eighteen faculty members and three students, each member having an equal vote. Its function is to discuss and move on resolutions coming out of Student Senate. In addition this body acted upon suggestions from the University President, such as the creation of new investigative or functional committees. Executive Committee acted directly upon the resolution for a new probation policy, thus trying to keep itself in touch with the needs of the student body.

Honoraries

A prism of time divides a light in the university in 3—3 beams of light, illuminating for a moment the changing face of achievement . . .

Pi Delta Upsilon—struggling underclasswomen lauded for their first efforts, struggling together to achieve some sense of relevance to the campus community, to achieve national affiliation as a functioning, vital part of the university through activities that serve and encourage their fellow students—a fleeting ray of light—"Those were the days, my friend, we thought they'd never end . . ."

Another beam darting through the prism: Pi Mu Theta, senior women wise, consistent, persistent in their outstanding academic standing, 3.0 accumulative average, tenaciously clung to, perpetually salvaged. Wise? Solemn? "I've looked at clouds from both sides now, from up and down, but still somehow . . . I really don't know life at all . . ."

The broadest beam of light, searching through every disipline of the university, the ultimate level of national recognition: Phi Kappa Phi illuminating the magic upper 10 per cent of the graduating class, bringing together students and faculty under the Society's motto—Philosophia Kratei Photon—"The love of learning rules the world."

Focus these 3 beams through the prism of time, struggle, frustration, achievement, recognition: they are the Honoraries.

PI MU THETA—SEATED: Y. Howard, G. Holsinger, B. Kloster; STANDING: N. Habbyshaw, D. Bell, L. Rubin, L. Worley, K. Winn, G. Briody, L. Anderson, S. Storms, E. Matson.

Character, Citizenship, Scholarship, Leadership, Responsibility—if in extraordinary proportions, possessor most likely to be found in the pages of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The prestige and respectability of national recognition of one's ability and accomplishment is aptly symbolized by the glamorous, if well-worn phrase, "Who's Who."

And who is who among the nation's thousands of college students? What does such a cliche mean? What relevance has it to now, to today? Perhaps it is meaningful—especially to those who belong to that elite, the few dedicated ones whose contributions are finally recognized and applauded.

Vaguely resembling a dusty Funk and Wagnell Dictionary, that yearly publication may not be Life, but for the deserving who are honored, Who's Who provides a valid and illuminating focus on achievement.

That was the evening—participating in discussions, and watching the burning of the "M".

That was the Sunday—singing in the choir, watching "the Happening" and leaving for campus.

That was the weekend—the weekend of Freshman Camp.

1968 Homecoming Queen

Kathe Bristle of Pi Beta Phi was chosen to continue the Millikin homecoming queens' tradition of beauty and graciousness. Already honored as a former Miss Decatur, she joined the ranks of those select women who have attained the royalty to which every coed aspires.

Campus Chest

*For a week devoted to the serious matter of money—that is, fund-raising—*Campus Chest provided some light moments, at the expense of tradition or youth or anything at all. It was open season—Hilarity for Charity. And they meant it. Traditional activities, whether the Beauty and the Beast Contest or the Carnival, felt the effects of a refreshing wave of innovation. The week's activities saw the inauguration of the Faculty "Talent" show and reorganization of the old events. The chaos of extracurriculars, ah sweet youth, the "best years of our lives" they say? Laughing (or crying) at the talent show, listening to the Cryin' Shames, groaning as a "friend" sauntered away with the prize you wanted, working hard to make it all possible? Maybe they're right. But Campus Chest—so what? So that three more Millikin students can go to Ecumenical Work Camp to experiment in living. Campus Chest, 1969—focus on giving.

Christmas

Christmas is a tag they put on a season. You can tell when it's here—green and red candy starts appearing in those glass candy cases in Kresges. It affects people in strange ways—somehow, they suddenly start becoming more friendly, more caring . . . At Millikin, Christmas flew in a week early. The Spirit was there, though, as the Vespers and the Messiah were completed and Christmas trees started popping up across campus. Who can forget the hectic last minute dorm parties, classes called off, people torn between enthusiasm for an extra week of vacation and the unhappy realization that all the work would have to be made up later? Nobody really wants to.

Sweetheart Dance

The annual Valentine's Day Sweetheart Dance . . . Another vestige of tradition at Millikin, a tradition gladly honored each year. While the vision and perspective of each succeeding generation affects the significance of this Dance—indeed, of all rites and traditions—the anticipation, the enjoyment are rediscovered by each couple in the dim and scented room, in the rhythm of the music, in the touch of their partner. Sweetheart Serenade, 1969, for a new generation, a new focus on enchantment.

Student-Faculty Retreat

"What are you trying to prove, I mean, really, wearing your hair like that? Just what are you trying to tell us?" "We just want to do our own thing—I mean, we're human, too. We have pride."

Groping, trying, speaking, stuttering, faltering, seeing at last what it meant to be confronted. Black. White. Student. Teacher. Strangers. Friends. A day. A night. Late. Tired. Talk. Listen. Listen . . . Listen . . . Listen!

And maybe, some heard. A Student-Faculty Retreat devoted two days to the nation's most explosive crisis, the crisis facing white men confronted by black men, black Americans who have discovered a priceless sense of identity, with its concomitant senses of pride and brotherhood. For Millikin the crisis is just as real, and is characterized by the white student and faculty's ignorance, lack of insight, or (most frightening of all) apathy. The Retreat gave those who came—black and white, student and faculty—a real opportunity to face their own shortcomings and confront the problems we must at least try to solve.

Discussion groups, readings, a play, role-playing, a meditation—activities designed to provide impetus for thought, time for understanding. Structured? Perhaps. Meaningful? Who will say? No one really wants to. For that is another confrontation, the confrontation of our individual responsibility for change.

Fine Arts

Sunday afternoons. Seen through colored panes of glass. Faces, colors, shadows, movement, anticipation. A trip into another world—the world of the performing artist.

Millikin's Fine Art Series provided many perspectives for seeing that world and delighting in it. From piano duet to the Canterbury Tales, from chamber orchestra to woodwind quintet, the 1969 series was richly varied, a celebration of texture, sound and mood. Focus on artistic expression.

Town and Gown

The tension of auditions; the frenzy of set building and costuming; the frustration, the exhaustion of rehearsals; the tight, scant-of-breath, stomach's jumping, damp hands feeling of opening night: Town and Gown proudly presented The Merry Wives of Windsor . . . Spoon River Anthology . . . Blues for Mister Charlie . . . another season of dramatic entertainment. Each year, Decatur residents join with Millikin students to indulge in a most human form of expression, the drama. Two diverse elements of the community drawn together, drawn to the stage, where briefly they live the large joys and small tragedies of the human soul for all of us.

Ecumenical Work Campers

Frank Baldwin
Finland

Jane Mueller
Portugal

Enthusiasm for challenge, intelligence for sound judgment, dedication to ideals, energy for great adventure—high criteria for a unique task . . . The students who were sent abroad as Ecumenical Work Campers were special people, people honest enough to tell (or ask) strangers why, eager to give themselves to hard work, loving enough to give of themselves to other people. Living and working together: an essential, human experience. Living and working with students from all over the world, living and working in a country not your own: a priceless human experience. Tourists? Sometimes. Students? Sometimes. Christians? Perhaps. Christian? Probably. Three were chosen, and for those three Millikin students, 1968 meant a summer in Ecumenical Work Camp—focus on people.

Isa

Independent Student Association has achieved its main objective, that of helping the unaffiliated students to realize that they could be more a part of Millikin than they had been in the past. The Independents have been brought together and organized and are now actively working for the improvement of the entire University. This year there were no great triumphs nor defeats, for ISA. Social activities were sponsored for the benefit of the entire student body. The organization sought to provide an outlet for student energy and served the University well. Place the focus on Students.

Greeks

Friendship "is one of the clearest examples of that double instinct which causes us to dig deeper into our own selves, and, at the same time, to emerge from ourselves and realize ourselves in another."

Greek Week

Whether playing tug o'war, throwing the shot-put, or singing, the Greeks had one main purpose during Greek Week: to reinforce the ideals and friendships within their system.

A week of work and play, laughter and serious thought—added up to a re-focus on friendship.

Student Senate, a forum for discussion and implementation of student ideas, is concerned not only with eliminating situations bothersome to students but also furthering University objectives. Through this media students can contribute to the efforts to reshape Millikin This year we accomplished the elimination of women's hours for juniors and seniors and brought about a major change in the assembly policy. In addition, Senate plans a teacher-course appraisal booklet designed to aid students in their academic selection.

While these changes have come directly from Senate, other students chosen by us have contributed by serving on University committees. Their work includes changes in the probation status and exploration of the interim concept. With this base to build on, we hope to increase our commitment to the reshaping of Millikin University.

For Soul Only

We, the Black students of Millikin University, united to foster culture among ourselves and to share it with the Millikin and Decatur communities. By bringing together Black students, we pursued Black education and cultural enrichment, oriented Black students to the area, protected Black students from discrimination, served the Black Decatur community, and observed Black holidays. Thus, we, the members of For Soul Only, strove for the unity and sharing of our ideas and heritage.

Religion was brought closer to many students on Millikin's campus through the atmosphere provided by lively discussions of current events. Through guest speakers, Bible studies, films, or a weekly on-campus mass, each individual strove to mature as a Christian and to develop a personalized Christianity relevant to today.

Circle K

Without a doubt the purpose of Circle K was to serve. The members from so many different backgrounds were brought together by this common goal. For example the pumpkins, decoratively carved in the Pumpkin Karving Kontest, were taken to hospital wards to wish the children a happy Halloween. In addition to this major project, the club visited a hospital every week to help distribute books to those unable to walk. Also every week the club attended the teen center at Westminister Church to develop friends. Cantrell Hall was frequently visited by the club, thus by taking a personal interest in the home, the members served as big brothers for the boys. Service was rendered outside the community through the Christmas card exchange, aimed at bringing a serviceman's Christmas closer to home. Finally, since Circle K was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Decatur, the club always assisted in any service project sponsored by Kiwanis.

CIRCLE K—FIRST ROW: D. Houck, L. McGee, B. Kinsey, J. Siemer, J. Herring, B. Horton, P. Smith, M. Karasis, G. Carnall; SECOND ROW: *B. Berry, T. Meier, B. Dickerson, T. Cork, D. Gordon, M. Millikin Pals

A small boy, a huge smile, a concentrated effort—these are the sights and rewards of being a Millikin pal. A few tears shed over a troublesome assignment: two students studying a math book, one desperately trying to understand, the other desperately trying to teach—these are the tasks and rewards of being a Millikin pal. Every week concerned Millikin students leave the atmosphere of the campus to enter the community to become acquainted with a child in various area grade schools. These students are growing by giving help and friendship to the younger segment of the "now" generation. They in turn give their pals the warmth of their appreciation. A new focus on giving; these are the rewards of being a Millikin pal.

Young Republicans

Young Republicans: college students with a political identity. Their club sought to encourage students of the same ideological leaning to come together, exchange ideas, learn of and work for the Republican Party, to do their part to make that party a vital organization in American politics. Focus on . . . participation.

Alpha Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi sought to develop foremost the welfare of the individual members. Besides demanding a minimum scholastic achievement, the chapter also presented opportunities for the student to learn about business practices from outstanding businessmen. Professional meetings were held at which officers of companies attended and talked to the fraternity about an aspect of their firm. In addition, throughout the year the chapter made several field trips. Secondly, the fraternity sought to develop projects of research and service. Finally, the chapter strove to demand of its members the highest ideals and ethics used in business practices.

Pi Kappa Delta

The National Collegiate Players and Pi Kappa Delta have concentrated on the art of communication. Speech, drama—whichever the means, the end is the same: a way of illustrating principles via careful rhetoric and style.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club operated on the basis of mutual interest in Don Quixote, Holy Week in Seville, bullfighting, tortillas, Cuba, and the joy of communicating with a foreign civilization. The purpose of the club was to broaden our perspectives; to help us realize the constant interrelation of the Spanish and the American; one that we slowly have been accomplishing.

Members of Sigma Zeta are encouraged to pursue experimentation and investigation of the sciences, stimulated by field trips, guest speakers, the national publication* Sigma Zetan, and participation in a national convention. Sigma Zeta provides for a sharing of knowledge and an impetus for scholarship, thus serving the needs of the broader academic community.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

Each field of endeavor can point to certain of its advocates as possessing a special dedication and talent. It is the purpose of honor societies to recognize all such individuals.

For pre-medical, pre-dental, and medical technology students, recognition by Alpha Epsilon Delta is that focus on their achievements and potential. Members have an opportunity to learn about the medical profession through activities ranging from field trips to lectures by guest speakers.

Brought closer together by sharing their interest in a most demanding and significant field, those elected to Alpha Epsilon Delta form a fellowship representative of the future of their profession.

Student Education Association

This is a dream of every teacher—to put in each child understanding of the language plus bringing to birth in hearts love and yearning. This was the purpose of the Student Education Association—to prepare the beginning teacher to fulfill her dream.

Collage

At Millikin, 1968 saw a reappraisal and reorganization of the campus literary publication—a studied attempt to focus on a virtually unexplored facet of the college experience, the individual's discovery of creative expression. Collage sought to expose the experiments in expression conducted by students and faculty members.

Conant Society

Traditionally, Conant Society was the literary society on campus. Traditionally, it was shrouded in an aura of obscurity, the stronghold and special interest group of the English major. But this year saw the theatre of the absurd, music, poetry, experimental films and still photography—a broadening of interests and activities to encompass other art forms. Creativity, exploration and a lively exercise in meeting new things made a Conant Society that grew and changed.

Frustration, fatigue, irritation, conflict, resolution, production, printing. For ten co-editors, a year of work. The final product: 288 pages, Millidek 1969. Hopefully, a book of reflection and innovation, a book worth remembering.

Even on a small campus addresses are often hard to encounter, and rules are often changed. The Directory and Handbook give each member of the university community a reference point where he can find any phone number, any current ruling . . . even on a small campus.

Decaturian

The Decaturian was a voice, a voice of the student expressing his ideas on various subjects. It was a source of information, a source from which the student learned about campus activities as well as national happenings. Finally, the Decaturian was a challenge, a challenge to express one's views, however radical they might be. The Dec was a picture of the student in relation to his university surroundings.

Chorus

Curiosity . . . interest . . . involvement . . . enjoyment—which have led students and members of the Decatur community to participation in the University Chorus. Open to all who want to sing, the organization offers its members experience in choral work, the opportunity to perform, the satisfaction of participation. Its annual winter and spring performances provide a focus on the joy of song.

Choir

Whether traveling, singing, working, or playing the Millikin University Choir was a dedicated unit of individuals. Each member joined the choir after strenuous auditioning, and then worked to reach the level of collective skill and ability required to perform a cappella music. They gave to Millikin, as well as to themselves, a sense of discrimination in listening and singing. It is doubtful that these 44 students will ever forget the happiness, hardships, and experience earned as a member of the M.U. Choir.

The Music Educators National Conference is an organization designed to aid and inform music education majors in their undergraduate development. By keeping abreast of aid programs and participating in music clinics, these future teachers gain practical preparation for their own further education as well as their careers. By supporting activities in the School of Music, MENC participates in the university community. MENC: focus on career commitment.

Orchestra

Clamor, whispers, silence, applause, silence, and then . . . Handel, Humperdinck, Beethoven, the sounds of the great classics of orchestral music presented with fervor and professional concern, the product of the labor of Millikin's University Orchestra.

Twice a year the concerts are presented. Twice a year the University and the community share what has been the hard-won results of weeks of rehearsal. The orchestra: another vehicle of expression, another facet of the University's musical world, another demonstration of the importance and joy musical performance can have for an entire community. Citizens and students joined together in the pursuit of artistic expression. Orchestra: focus on harmony.

Jazz Lab Band

This year was a year extraordinarily marked by the perseverance of tradition and the innovations of change. Both trends were reflected in the nature and activities of Millikin's organizations. University bands were no exception.

In Jazz Lab Band, perhaps the most colorful of University organizations, we see the clearest reflection of tradition and innovation. From Glenn Miller to Kyle Lenning the sounds are true and good and exciting. Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue—"I may never have the recipe again," but when it's happening, it's happening wild. Jazz Lab Band: focus on exploration.

Concert Band

The University Marching Band, composed of students from all areas of the academic realm, provided the music at pep rallies and athletic events, an integral and appreciated part of the ritual of athletic competition.

The Concert Band and Wind Ensemble, also offering membership to any qualified student, provided the outlet for performance of concert music for any combination of wind and percussion instruments, preserving the traditional heritage of concert literature. Experimentation always eagerly approached.

Sigma Alpha Iota

For those women scholastically and musically qualified to contribute to the development of music in the University, Sigma Alpha Iota provides a significant opportunity for action, as well as a means of recognition of talented women music majors. Celebrating its fifty-second anniversary on campus this past year, SAI hopes to achieve a wider awareness of music within the university community. In cooperation with Phi Mu Alpha, this professional fraternity works to select and present an annual musical production of substantial appeal to members of the city community, as well as the student body. SAI—focus on the relevance of music to all of us.

Phi Mu Alpha

One of the sweetest sounds of Millikin: a mellow Sinfonian serenade. One of the most colorful sights: the annual musical production or opera. One of the more special events: a reception for a renowned performing artist. Sound, sight, event —focus on Phi Mu Alpha, brotherhood of music students and those concerned with music in America.

These sounds, these sights, these events, all are the responsibility of the men's professional music fraternity. Its goals and activities are directed toward meaningful contribution to the University. Focus on Phi Mu Alpha? Focus: a functional organization devoted to bringing music out of the Conserv and into Millikin and community life.

Football: 1969

The 1968 Campaign showed the fans that Coach Mathieson's boys played a much improved game over last year. The greatest asset in this year's 3—5 season was the fact that the Big Blue boasted a squad of both experience and new young potential. The cumulative strength and ability produced a rugged defense against the CCIW opponents. The offense was made of veteran upperclassmen and supplemented by talented freshmen. For the main part, these students will return next year to form a strong nucleus for an expected conference contender.

Basketball

Hoping for a second consecutive trip to Kansas City to play in the N.A.I.A. Tournament, the Big Blue played another great season against tough opposition. Although chosen to place third in the CCIW, M.U. astonished fans and foes alike in their bid for the crown. Fearing that too many valuable members had been lost at the end of last season, the team, however, rebounded with improved reserves and talented freshmen. Throughout the entire season, Coach Don Williams remained confident in his team and their efforts.

M-Man: Jesse Price

Victory was the result of a team effort, but behind the team was a conspicuous player who through example and inspiration provided the spark that kindled the fire of championship playing. Jesse Price` was an outstanding player on M.U.'s basketball team for four years. The second basketball player at Millikin to break the 2000 mark in points, Jesse set a new record in total points as he captained the team through another fine season. This past season he also broke his own record in field goals and led the conference in rebounds. Jesse was chosen as a candidate for All-American and selected as a member of the AAU All-Star Basketball Team to represent his country abroad. He was honored at his last home game in a "Jesse Price Night" celebration. Hailed by Don Williams for being the man that he is, Jesse paid tribute in turn to the coach that stood with him for four years. Millikin's Basketball fans will not soon forget Number 21. Jesse Price—focus on athletic achievement.

Intramurals

If you saw half of Aston Hall perspiring, trudging dormward in the dusk, wishing the gym had succumbed to an Indian raid, you knew that intramurals were here again, and someone else was going home triumphant. Man against man, the fierce battles raged, whether it was badminton or bowling. Promoting a sense of belonging to that "home away from home," intramurals matched housing units of resident students in athletic contests. Result: involvement, fun, fatigue, the satisfaction of playing hard. Focus on sportsmanship.

TRANSITION

"Human understanding is marvelously enlightened by daily conversation—for otherwise we are compressed and heaped within ourselves."

Montaigne

"I speak truth not so much as I would; but as much as I dare; and I dare a little more as I grow older."

LOVE

that bank

Citizens National Bank is lovable.

At least, our customers tell us we are.

Perhaps that's because when they deposit their hard earned cash in a Citizens savings account, we want it to earn the best possible return, too. And their Citizens checking accounts provide convenience and better money management. (They all know that when they have a problem that money will solve, we're on their side.)

Try us — for all your financial needs.

We're not only helpful, we're extremely convenient. Located in the very heart of downtown Decatur.

The end of the beginning!

A lot of work goes into earning a diploma. Your name on one indicates a measure of achievement of which you can feel proud.

But a diploma is only a milestone—a measurement of what you have done.

Now . . . how about doing something with it?

For example, what are your plans for furthering your education?

If that isn't possible, then how about looking for a job with a company for whom you can work as beneficially as you worked for your diploma?

Personal effort is the essence of success—the key to your progress. That precious piece of paper you receive graduation day can help you unlock a bright future—as bright as you strive to make it.

May your future be a fine one!

A University is not just a building or people or books—but an interrelation of many facets ultimately given life by a spirit called such names as caring, learning, friendship, maturing . . .

MILLIDEK 1969 strove to focus on this spirit. But it is difficult in this materialistic, status-object directed world to capture such an abstraction.

If you look and take time, though, maybe you can find an essence of this spirit, a part of Millikin recorded in the MILLIDEK that is relevant to you and to Millikin's meaning for you—whatever that may be . . .

It was not easy to record Millikin so that each one of you could revisit at least one facet of Millikin that is relevant and meaningful.
But we hope we have.

If we left out a part of your Millikin—we are sorry . . . but, look again, maybe we uncovered another facet that you had not noticed before.
Focus in depth on Millikin . . .
